Laura LaValle

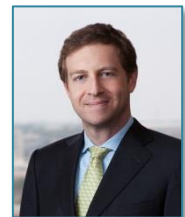

Austin Office Managing Principal • www.bdlaw.com/LauraLaValle

Laura LaValle's practice has focused on the Clean Air Act for over twenty years. She has represented a wide variety of companies in energy, chemical and product manufacturing, waste management, and other sectors. Laura's comprehensive air practice includes NSR and Title V permitting, deviation reporting, MACT and NSPS compliance, and responding to EPA Section 114 requests. She also advises companies about conducting compliance audits under EPA and state programs, including the Texas Environmental, Health & Safety Audit Privilege Act. She also provides representation regarding agency enforcement actions and administrative hearings. Before entering private practice, Laura worked in the Natural Resources Division of the Texas Attorney General's office. And before that she worked for the TNRCC (now the TCEQ). Upon graduation from law school, Laura served as a Judge Advocate in the U.S. Air Force.

Edward Grauman

Principal • www.bdlaw.com/EdGrauman

Edward Grauman's practice focuses on high-stakes, complex commercial and environmental litigation at both the trial and appellate levels. A substantial part of his practice focuses on representing policyholders in insurance-coverage disputes and on issues of director and officer indemnification. With respect to environmental matters, Ed litigates cases arising under CERCLA, the Clean Air Act, and state law.

Michael Vitris
