Bina is the Managing Principal of B&D's Austin office. She litigates high-stakes cases nationwide involving federal and state environmental laws, class actions, toxic tort, product liability, and constitutional claims.

Bina has deep expertise in the subject of environmental citizen suits and has led the successful defense of several novel claims. Her experience extends to all major environmental statutes — the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA), Clean Water Act, Clean Air Act, and the Safe Drinking Water Act. This experience includes the defense of claims involving complex and evolving environmental issues such as climate change impacts, natural disasters, and lead in drinking water.

Bina has extensive experience defending actions under CERCLA at complex multi-party sites. Her work also includes defense of toxic tort, nuisance, and product liability actions, including securing denial of class action certification.

Bina has been named a Litigator of the Week by American Lawyer and nominated by her peers for recognition for her work on behalf of clients, which include FORTUNE®50 companies and major municipalities.

Bina speaks and publishes on environmental litigation, in particular on the subject of novel uses of federal citizen suits.
