Blake brings a strong foundation in environmental science and public service to his legal practice.

A former Harris County Assistant Attorney, Blake helps clients navigate environmental laws and enforcement actions with a focus on air compliance, as well as litigation. While working for Harris County, he was a Justice Catalyst/Public Rights Project Fellow within the Environmental Division.

Blake has experience working on a diverse array of environmental enforcement matters brought pursuant to federal, state, and local regulations, including citizen suits. He also has experience with the Title V comment and petition process, public access and notice, and other regulatory requirements.

During law school, Blake gained experience through clerkships with the Environmental Integrity Project, ACLU of Texas, and Texas Rio Grande Legal Aid. He also participated in the Environmental Law Clinic at The University of Texas School of Law, representing a community group in the early stages of a Safe Drinking Water Act citizen suit.

Before law school, Blake was a Teach for America corps member in Dallas, where he taught environmental systems and Pre-AP biology.
