

Lauren M. Karam

Associate

lkaram@bdlaw.com

+1.617.419.2312

155 Federal Street, Suite 1600, Boston, MA, 02110-1716

Lauren's practice focuses on new air and climate regulations, enforcement cases, and air permitting litigation.

Prior to joining the firm, Lauren served as Counsel in the Massachusetts Department of Environmental Protection (MassDEP), Office of General Counsel in Boston, MA, where she focused on climate policy, air permit litigation, and enforcement matters. She also participated in a state-wide group of attorneys from eleven different jurisdictions working to adopt regulation to reduce emissions from the transportation sector and has experience working on cap-and-trade programs.

While in law school, Lauren served as a law clerk for U.S. Department of Justice in the Environment & National Resources Division (ENRD) in their Environmental Enforcement Section Boston field office. In this role, Lauren assisted with enforcement cases arising under the Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation, and Liability Act (CERCLA) and the Resource Conservation and Recovery Act (RCRA). Lauren was also an Editor on the Suffolk Transnational Law Review and volunteered with the Innocence Project.

Education

- Hobart and William Smith Colleges (B.A., cum laude, 2015)
- Suffolk University (J.D., cum laude, 2018)

Bar Admissions

- Massachusetts

Professional Affiliations

Boston Bar Association

Community Involvement

Student Attorney, Innocence Project Clinic, 2018

Academic Publications

Fracking Across the Globe: The Role of Federal, State, and Local Regulations, 41, 1 SUFFOLK
TRANS L. REV. 173

Publications

June 1, 2022

When Imperfect Notice Is Still Adequate Notice

Beveridge & Diamond

May 2, 2022

Massachusetts SMART Program Expands Eligibility for Solar Units on Agricultural Land

Beveridge & Diamond