Olivia supports the firm's regulatory attorneys by tracking state and federal regulations and conducting extensive research.

Her substantive research background includes California's AB 617, Cleaner Air Oregon, Washington State Department of Ecology rulemakings, Brownfields, and Title V permitting. In addition, Olivia has extensive knowledge of the legislative process and tracks House and Senate bills as they progress through the legislative bodies. She also regularly assists the Air & Climate Change practice group with collecting and summarizing court and county documents throughout the Pacific Northwest.
