

Ryan L. Andrée

Associate

randree@bdlaw.com

+1. 617.419.2304

1900 N Street, NW, Suite 100, Washington, DC, 20036-1661

Ryan helps clients navigate carbon emissions and environmental markets.

Ryan is an experienced environmental attorney focused on serving clients in environmental markets. He recently served as Deputy General Counsel for a global leader in emissions reduction projects with operations spanning Africa, Central America, India, and Southeast Asia. In this capacity, Ryan spearheaded legal strategies for a wide range of complex transactions, including project finance, carbon credit sales, and planning and operation of energy efficiency, methane mitigation, and nature-based emission reduction projects.

Prior to his in-house role, Ryan was an associate at a Washington, DC-based firm where he advised clients in the carbon markets, clean technology, low carbon fuels, and renewable energy sectors. His work included representing clients in rulemaking and litigation under the Clean Air Act and federal Renewable Fuel Standard and securing public funding and policy support for businesses in clean technology.

Resident in Houston. Affiliated with the firm's Washington, DC, office. Admitted only in Washington, DC and New Hampshire; not a member of the TX Bar. TX Practice supervised by members of the TX Bar.*

Education

- University of California - San Diego (B.A., with Honors, 2009)
- New York University (M.A., Political Philosophy, with Honors, 2011)
- University of Cambridge (M. Phil., 2014)
- Vermont Law School (J.D., magna cum laude, 2015)

Bar Admissions

- District of Columbia
- New Hampshire

Publications

- Christian Hofer, Ryan Andrée, and Ken Nelson, Carbon Taxes vs. Carbon Markets: The Easy or the Right Way?, Environmental Markets Association (2021)